Chapter 207: The Divine Ascensions

As the followers of the Divine Triad and their Dragon kin ascended, they reached new milestones of divine transformation. These milestones not only represented their growth in power but also their deeper bond with their divine patrons. The bestowal of new gifts, hearts, and forms marked a new era where the followers transcended their mortal limitations, becoming even more formidable and god-like in their own right.

Sung Jin-Woo's Divine Gifts: The Black Heart and Astralization

At Level 300, Sung Jin-Woo, the God of Shadows and Life, granted a profound and transformative gift to his most devoted followers.

1. Additional Black Heart: For those who had ascended to this stage, Sung Jin-Woo bestowed upon them a second Black Heart. This heart was a symbol of their deepening connection to the shadows, amplifying their power. The Black Heart acted as an amplifier of their existing power, enhancing their mana reserves, physical strength, and ability to manipulate the shadows.

2. Astralization Skill: Along with the Black Heart, Sung Jin-Woo granted the Astralization Skill, enabling the wielder to transcend their physical form temporarily. Those who received this skill could project their astral selves, allowing them to interact with the astral plane, fight across dimensions, and harness the powers of pure existence. This ability also granted them immense mobility across realms, becoming true gods in their own right, capable of traversing dimensions effortlessly.

Ashborn’s Celestial Ascension: Celestial Wings and Transformation

At Level 500, the most dedicated followers of Ashborn, the God of Eternity and Souls, underwent a grand transformation.

1. Celestial Wings: Ashborn granted his followers a set of Celestial Wings, vast and majestic in their appearance. These wings were not just for flight; they symbolized the divine protection and power of the Celestial Realm. The wings imbued their bearers with the ability to manipulate time and space to a limited extent, granting them the power to transcend the laws of physics in battle.

2. Celestial Being Transformation: Upon reaching Level 500, the faithful followers of Ashborn could now transform into Celestial Beings, powerful, radiant forms that reflected the eternal nature of Ashborn himself. In this form, they could command the forces of the cosmos, wielding the powers of eternity and souls with unparalleled mastery. Their bodies became divine, nearly impervious to harm, and they could control vast energies tied to the very fabric of existence.

Sung Su-Ho’s Dragon Ascension: Additional Dragon Heart and Dragon Form

At Level 500, Sung Su-Ho, the God of Dragons and Fire, granted his followers the power to become true dragons, transcending their mortal selves.

1. Additional Dragon Heart: Sung Su-Ho bestowed upon his followers a second Dragon Heart. This heart, like the Dragon Heart gifted to those who reached Level 500, amplified their flame-based abilities and mana. The heart acted as a conduit to the deepest, most primal powers of dragons, enabling them to wield the fires of creation itself. The additional Dragon Heart increased their resilience, vitality, and their bond with the ancient and primal energies of the dragon race.

2. Dragon Form: At this stage, the followers of Sung Su-Ho could now transform into their true Dragon Forms. These forms reflected the full power of dragons, making them capable of taking on vast, formidable shapes, each one towering in size and imbued with unimaginable strength. In their Dragon Form, they could unleash cataclysmic flames, control the elements, and access powers beyond mortal comprehension.

The Duo Dragons and The Seven Dragons’ Ascension: Dragon Heart and Dragon Form

Similar to the transformation granted by Sung Su-Ho, the Duo Dragons—Sung Ye-Jun and Sung Ye-Rin—and the Seven Dragons also bestowed upon their followers their own gifts at Level 500.

1. Additional Dragon Heart: For those who followed the Duo Dragons and the Seven Dragons, an additional Dragon Heart was gifted. This heart empowered their followers, deepening their connection to the Dragonkin and imbuing them with a stronger flow of mana and flame energy. The Dragon Heart became the core of their power, allowing them to manipulate the forces of fire and magic with enhanced precision and control.

2. Dragon Form: Upon reaching Level 500, these followers could also take on their Dragon Form. Their transformations were a reflection of the true dragon power that coursed through their veins. In their Dragon Forms, they gained vast control over flame, ether, and other elemental forces, becoming towering, terrifying creatures that commanded the very essence of destruction. The power of these Dragon Forms would make them one of the most feared entities across the multiverse, second only to the Divine Triad themselves.

The Dawn of a New Era

With these divine gifts, Sung Jin-Woo, Ashborn, Sung Su-Ho, and their Dragon kin ensured that their followers ascended to heights never before imagined. These new abilities, hearts, and transformations marked a new age where their influence could not be contested.

The faithful who had received these powers were no longer mere followers—they were gods in their own right, with the Black Heart, Astralization, Celestial Wings, Dragon Hearts, and Dragon Forms as symbols of their divine power. Their connection to their patrons was now more than just spiritual—it was tangible, capable of reshaping the multiverse itself.

As these ascended beings walked across the realms, they brought the light of their divine patrons, ushering in a new era of power, dominance, and prosperity for the Divine Triad and their followers.

With their gifts, the balance of the multiverse had shifted once more. The reign of the Divine Triad and their dragons had only just begun.
